

Recent Operations

By Paul Rardin

Well, I've had a birthday anniversary since I dashed off, the column in the week. No, I don't feel any older. In fact I feel right good about the whole thing. Wednesday was the day. I thought little of it until a couple of friends phoned to extend greetings. A couple of telegrams lightened the day's work and, yes, you, vigorously would cards brought the day to a happy ending. One card read: "To wish happy birthday and lots of good cheer, to a night of friends all days in the year." Yeah, I know a lot of folks say they're hard boiled and don't go in for kind of stuff. But away down deep in their hearts they're hurt if somebody didn't remember them on their birthday.

Then, too, since last week I've learned a new word. It's "ginger-vation." How do you like that one? Sounds like it might mean peep, ginger, vom, vigorously. It's a little different, something like that. As well as I remember I picked it up in "The Lone Ranger" magazine, or magazine. Maybe it was an advertisement telling about the good qualities of Canada Dry Ginger Ale. (Anybody who's ever drunk a can of sparkling water better be more ginger-vation.)

I ran across another advertisement. It said "On your 35th birthday use your beer putter." I'm at a loss to know what it means. There was a picture of a bottle of beer in the ad. I'll bet Lou Betzner, John Harris, Luke or Jones, Johnny Thomas, C. C. Hull or some of the boys who actually play golf to get intelligent interpretation of that phrase. I confess my ignorance of the game and I'm sure you'll be able to tell me what it means. I wouldn't know which end of the club to hold.

I like to fish. But I also like to catch fish. Monday evening I snafu'd out of the office to visit Lake Harbor on business. A fishing urge got the upper hand of me and before I knew what was happening I was in Moore Haven making plans to go fishing. Carr Settle of the Moore Haven Democratic, Nate Brockman of the Sebring News, Kit Bowden of the Clewiston News and Ed Edgerton of the Western Newspaper Union in Alachua, stated that I was a fish and I couldn't refuse that bunch of fellows. Well, by the time we reached Lake Fort Meade it was nearly time for the fish to quit biting. As far as I was concerned they had quit. But that Broking fellow from Sebring was a real outdoors and within fifteen minutes he cornered five of the prettiest bass I've ever seen. I just don't understand why they wouldn't strike my plug. Guess it wasn't the proper design. There'll be another day.

I've been rather amused at all the young yowling about Fred Kent's appointment as attorney for the Everglades Drainage District. Miami newspapers and some of the folks down there don't like the idea of Fred going down to Jacksonville to be their attorney for the district. Sounds like the Magic City has pulled in its well-worn sign in which it says "We're glad to have a sub-contractor for the district. Sounds like he's always greeted new citizens."

Lawrence Will at the Pioneer Service Station is getting ready for another busy season. The workmen are busy putting in a new outfit for greasing cars. It is complete. Almost ready to go. Tasks are being installed to hold the grease which will be applied to and in cars with special constructed air guns. The grease will be fed from home supplied from the roof of the grease rack. Lawrence says that any make of car can be easily greased and serviced from his new equipment in a very short time.

Much Concrete Work Evidence Glades Activity

McKinstry Construction Co. Kept Busy During Summer Months

Half of the population of the region may be on vacation, but the half at home seems to have been busy during the summer months. Much construction work has been done and much is under way and will be completed before this section swings into another busy vegetable season.

Sam McKinstry, of the McKinstry Construction Company in Palmetto, says that he has been unusually busy this summer. He says that he has been busy with concrete work. And where there is concrete work there is building—and building means progress in a community. Mr. McKinstry and his crew recently finished a five-week job at the Sugar plant of the United States Sugar Corporation.

The sugar company job called for removal of all foundations of the old sugar plant. More than 200 cubic yards of old foundations were dynamited from their location. Seven thousand square feet of new concrete was poured. For the sugar company and new buildings will be erected thereon in the near future. The sugar company has also announced plans for a new building to be erected at what departments they will accommodate.

Vinegar Bend Will Be Rebuilt On 25

Vinegar Bend, that dangerous curve south of Belle Glade, will be rebuilt by the State Highway Department in the early days of August. The reconstruction of this section of the road is being pushed by the state highway department. The reconstruction of this section of the road is being pushed by the state highway department.

B. Elliott Goes In For Extensive Training

B. Elliott, Pahokee Ford dealer, is breaking into the new work regularly these days. Last week it was the mysterious disappearance of a car from his show room. This week he reveals that he has been secretly taking boxing lessons since the last week in March. Friends of the trainer say he has advanced in weight from 135 pounds to 156 and the trainer is out.

Chalker Appointed On Drainage Board

George A. Chalker of West Palm Beach was named on Monday of this week as a member of the State Board of Drainage. Chalker is a member of the District 10 Board of Supervisors, to which he was appointed by Governor Lane. Neither position pays a salary.

WHAT CHANCE DOES AN ATTORNEY HAVE WITH TWO REAL FISHERMEN?

Thadd Whidden, Pahokee attorney, spent Sunday morning with Jerry Berry, mortician, and C. L. Wilder, Glades farmer, fishing in Kissimmee river. Thadd's story is that he caught eight nice bass and Jerry caught a little one while C. L. didn't get a strike. Anyway, when the party returned, the report was that Jerry caught five, C. L. landed four and Thadd didn't have the first bit of luck. It's funny how fishing stories can get twisted between the river and the town of Pahokee when the distance isn't so many miles. Thadd says the boys framed their own story and are sticking to it despite the efforts to get out the details before the fishermen friends. The attorney plans to carry on with the fishing trip with C. L. and Jerry.

BORRIS JOE SANDERS LANDS NICE STRING BASS

Borris Joe Sanders landed a nice string of five bass the latter part of the week. He caught them in Denton's fishing cove in Pahokee. The five beauties tipped the scales to 24 pounds and 14 pounds. Sanders says he weighed eight pounds and eight ounces. F. E. Watson, of Canal Point, is still at the head of the list with a bass that weighed 11 pounds. He caught it during the month of May.

Department Tries To Better Lettuce

Matter Is Discussed In Year Books Soon Ready For Distribution

Of interest to the growers in the Lake Okechobee region will be year books to be issued by the Department of Agriculture which will soon be ready for distribution and in which the development of lettuce is discussed at length. Very little lettuce is grown in this section of Florida but some growers say that in the next few years it will be cultivated. Lettuce breeders have several local achievements to their credit, the article states. The Department of Agriculture is also planning to publish a book on lettuce. The book will be published this week by the road department in which a call for bids is made. The book will be published this week by the road department in which a call for bids is made.

Resolution: Passed at Meeting Last Thursday Explains New Set-Up

Conservancy Dist. To Rent Farm Land

At a meeting of the board of supervisors of the Lake Okechobee Conservancy district held in the Belle Glade office last Thursday, a resolution was passed empowering the district to lease farm land held under certificates more than two years old. Rent on the land was set at $4.00 per acre with a maximum of $40.00 per acre. The resolution also provided that the district should be authorized to lease land for a term of not more than 10 years.

PAHOKEE POLICE RIDE IN NEW V-8

Members of the Pahokee police department now have a new Ford V-8 for transportation purposes. The car is a black four door sedan and has "Pahokee Police Department" lettered on each front door. It replaces an older model Ford that has given the department excellent service.

LOTS SELLING BAILEY'S NEGRO SUB-DIVISION

C. A. Bailey, Pahokee realtor, stated this week that sales are satisfactory in his recently opened negro sub-division which is located one-fourth of a mile from the light plant on the Muck City road. Mr. Bailey recently bought 10 acres from Andy Smith and subdivided the tract into lots ranging from $75 to $100 on easy payment terms. The sub-division is for colored people only, Mr. Bailey added.

Rardin Speaks To Belle Glade Rates

Paul Rardin, one of Palm Beach county's representatives in the 1937 session of the legislature, reviewed his work of that session in the weekly meeting of the Belle Glade Rotary club Friday. Rardin was introduced by Rocco Braddock, program chairman, who said that Rardin had done a good job of representing the district. Rardin said that he had done a good job of representing the district. State May Lose Federal Help In Employment

Agreement Must Be Reached by August 1 Or Aid Will Be Withdrawn

Wendell C. Heaton, state industrial commissioner, in Tallahassee, states that a conference is planned in Washington within the next few days at which time the industrial commission hopes to reach a working agreement with the United States Employment Service. This agreement would bring to an end the controversy between Governor Fred B. Cone and the federal government over the appointment of Fred B. Bradshaw as state director of the employment service to replace John Emerson.

Dowling Clears Up 1937 Fishing Law

At the recent session of the legislature many laws were passed and one that seems to be of more interest to the state than conservation is the new fishing law. R. L. Dowling, state conservation agent, said this week that persons from out of the state who wish to fish in Florida are not required to obtain licenses if they do not sell the fish they catch. FIRE THREATENS PRINCE THEATRE

At 3:30 Sunday afternoon fire broke out in the stairway between the Prince theatre and the building recently vacated by A. Mulberg. Prompt action on the part of the Pahokee fire department brought the fire under control and little damage was done. Two windows in the front of the Mulberg building were broken by the water pressure. Whether a lighted cigarette or faulty wiring caused the blaze has not been determined.

CURVE IS WIDENED

The intersection of Curried highway and the Pahokee-Canal Point road is being widened this week by a crew of state highway workers. Hereafter, the curve has been so sharp that a car almost had to come to a stop before making it.

HOME IS COOLEST SPOT AS VACATION TRIP IS ENDED SAYS PAHOKEE RESIDENT

Many folks go north and west in the summer in order to enjoy a cool weather. More proof is at hand that this section of Florida is cooler after all. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hudson returned to their Pahokee home over the week end after a six weeks vacation trip into the western states. During their time away from the Lake region Mr. and Mrs. Hudson visited Texas and Colorado and other western states. When asked Wednesday morning about comparative temperatures Mr. Hudson said, "My home felt like it was air-conditioned last night after sleeping in some of the sweltering places out west. No, they're not another region of the Lake Okechobee region thoroughly satisfied with the summer weather. It was the second largest body of fresh water in America."

INTERNATIONAL DEALER MAKES QUICK PLANE TRIP

Frank Brewer, proprietor of the plane place in Pahokee, was called to the state capital in an Indianapolis plane Friday and made the trip by plane to the state capital in Indianapolis. Brewer arrived in the Indianapolis capital during the afternoon, the trip being made in seven and a half hours. Brewer stated that his wife and two children accompanied him on the trip. Brewer's plane was operated by a local pilot.

Lapp Reviews Book At Rotary Meeting

An unusual program was given by Bert Lapp at the weekly meeting of the Pahokee Rotary club yesterday when he reviewed David E. Keene's new book, "How to Win Friends and Influence People." The review was offered by Mr. Lapp was interesting and in his fifteen minutes he gave a comprehensive review of the book. The book is a classic on the art of getting along with people.

Battle of Words Over Kent As Drainage Atty.

Bryant, Replaced by Kent, Says Governor Dictated Appointment

A battle of words was waged this week by two gentlemen in far removed places. Frank E. Bryant, deposed Everglades Drainage District attorney, in Miami, and Governor Fred B. Cone, in Tallahassee, were principals of the controversy. It all centered around the appointment of Fred B. Kent of Jacksonville as attorney for the drainage district to replace Attorney Bryant. Kent has held the job for the past three years. Following an announcement by the drainage district commissioners that Kent had been named attorney, the governor, in Tallahassee, stated that he knew nothing of the appointment "until he read it in the newspaper." Attorney Bryant recounted: "The governor knew all about it because he had it done. He telephoned James H. Franklin, of Hillsboro, secretary of the board, last week, and told him to have the board name Mr. Kent as attorney for the drainage district. He followed Governor Cone's instructions because they knew they might be suspended if they did not."

Electric Power For Ortona Locks

Announcement was made from the U. S. Engineers office in Clewiston Monday that the locks in the Caloosahatchee-Okechobee waterway at Ortona between Clewiston and Lehigh have been connected with electric power and are opening for boats from either direction on Monday, July 24. The locks have been operated by hand since the official opening of the waterway last March and could have used only certain hours of the day.

Tuffy Sapp Gets His Man In Third Round

Tuffy Sapp of Pahokee came out of the squared circle in West Palm Beach Tuesday night a winner. He defeated a local contender in the Post-Times Charity Fund amateur program. Tuffy weighed in at 142 pounds and his opponent weighed in at 140 pounds. Tuffy's first start in fast company but he landed a cooler on the jaw of Fiskling in the third round. After the blow the Post-Times editor said, the count of ten by the referee was only a formality.

GLADES AFFAIRS

By Howard Sharp
By the appointment of George A. Chalker as chairman and general manager and Fred H. Kent as attorney there is a new administration of Everglades Drainage District and this is a circumstance of high interest in this region. The appointments were made by Governor Cane after a lapse of time in which the governor seems to have given full consideration to the matter. There has been some complaint and criticism of the appointments and the manner in which they were made but on examination it will be found that the appointments are good and the course proper and the criticism unwarranted.

Everglades Drainage District embraces some 4,000,000 acres of land in parts of eleven counties, the acreage varying in the several counties; nowhere does it extend to the ocean front on the east but it does extend from north of Lake Okechobee to take in a part of metropolitan Miami. Under the act of the Legislature which authorized an issue of bonds, the district is zoned and the taxes vary in amounts per acre. How a governing board was to be appointed fairly represent this large area and prospects and tax-carrying ability was a problem which found a possible solution in the act of the Legislature of 1929 which vested in the governor the power to appoint the board of commissioners.

For many years prior to 1929 the district's board was composed of five state officials. It is the manner of constituting the board was to be abandoned, what method was to be substituted? Some persons advocated the selection of board members in general elections, all voters being qualified to vote for candidates for the board. This plan was impossible, because the boundaries of precincts did not always agree with the boundaries of the district. It would not be fair, because heavily populated areas could out-vote the scattered settlements and make non-taxpaying persons control the hands of voters. To limit the voting to "land owners" raised the question of what kind of land, because some are not taxed a tax of 10 cents an acre and some a tax of 50 cents or more.

The governor of Florida appoints the members of such important boards as the Board of Health and the Board of Control; he appoints the judges of the judicial circuits and the state attorneys; and he has the power of removal of county officials. It seems in accord with practice that he be directed to appoint members of the board of commissioners of Everglades Drainage District, a district in which the state has large land holdings and large equities in tax certificates. Moreover, the names of state officials are signed to millions of dollars of bonds of the district, involving the good faith of the state. Whether the appointment of the board by the governor is the ideal method, at least it is the most practicable method.

This method of constituting the board has the merit that it places responsibility definitely; it puts the responsibility on one man, known to all to be the man responsible for what is done, whether it is good or bad. It happens that the responsibility is on Governor Cane; in fairness to himself he had to have his own board, men of his own choosing—it is not fair to hold him responsible for a board he did not appoint; therefore he must dictate the operating organization.

In the four years of Governor Shott's administration little was done by the board on which he appointed a majority of the members. There was excuse for a part of the inactivity, but there is no excuse for the inaction and indifference of some of the duties. The interest Governor Cane has displayed in the affairs of the district indicates a desire to do this inactivity, and by his appointments and the manner of making the appointments he has shown a willingness to assume and discharge the duties the law imposes.

The writer of this column dropped into a drug store in Okechobee the other night to purchase a package of cigarettes. We dropped fifteen cents on the counter and the little lady, with an apologetic smile, said: "Two cents more, please." Two brown wafers fished out of our pocket and landed in a pack of cigarettes, the cigarette around which was decorated with a neat little blue stamp that said something about "City of Okechobee Tax Two Cents."

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

Political cats have a peculiar way of jumping that makes it extremely difficult for even the most experienced observer to determine in advance just where they are going to land.

Governor Fred, pro-Roosevelt to the crown, placed his bulk, vitality and influence behind Judge Andrews to the end that the Judge was elected in one of the greatest political upsets the state ever witnessed.

Fred naturally assumed that he was presenting Mr. Roosevelt's friend in a silver platter. Andrews was looked upon as an Administration push-over and marked down in the Roosevelt column without question.

What Mr. Pepper might do or just how he would line up no one really knew, of course he spoke eloquently for the administration and the President prior to the election and praised the "new deal" but what man Ray before an election and what they do afterwards, in the political world are not expected to coincide.

Out from under the protecting wing of Governor Fred, in far off Washington with no "mother" to guide him, Judge Andrews has been playing "nerves" according to his own rules. Instead of dutifully eating his alphabet soup and obliging with a sweet smile and an acquiescent gurgle when the administration chucked him under the chin and said "coo chee, coo chee, coo chee" he has been several occasions upset his bowl, thrown his rattle on the floor and carried on generally in a manner unbefitting a rising young "yes man."

It must be very embarrassing to Governor Fred.

Boy Claude, on the other hand, has shown every inclination to be a good boy and stay in the administration play-pen. In the brief time he has been in Washington he has gained a reputation as a mild or less trustworthy child. Once he did attempt to bite the administration hand when it was thrust into his with to take away a slice of tomato. When the action occasioned surprise it did not cause any serious displeasure, and they really admired the little fellow's spunk in trying to keep his tomato if he could.

In Washington, baby senators are not allowed to romp and play with the older boys nor are they taken into their confidence, but Claude turned out to be a bright, pleasing child. It wasn't long before the older boys were permitting him to join some of their games like "Follow the Leader" and "Thump Up, Thump Down."

He behaved so well that they went further and invited him to join them in the committee rooms when they played "Cops and Pickpockets" or "Wages and Hours" and they even listened to him when he suggested certain changes in the rules. As a result the Black-Cannery Bill at revised and revamped made no effort to fix a rigid minimum wage, the need of a differential in the South was given recognition, provision was made for an advisory council to work with the National Board in solving such problems as would arise and it generally considers the welfare of both labor and industry to the end that the good of both may be served. Many of these important changes were brought about through the intelligent and eloquent appeal of Florida's Junior senator, Pepper had gained the confidence and respect of his colleagues to the extent that his suggestions received consideration.

There are those who are inclined to feel that Senator Pepper has shown too great a desire to "please the powers that be" in thinking more about what Mr. Roosevelt wants than what the people want, but those who hold such opinion do not know Mr. Pepper.

His loyalty and faith as shown to the administration so far is justified. He has not only served his state and his nation in giving it his brief record in the Nation's legislative halls is indeed enviable and reflects nothing but credit upon his state and those who sent him there.

When the hour comes that the package of cigarettes we We, the events and affairs of the nation, honestly feels that the course of the administration leads in a direction that endangers the welfare of his state of his country, he will speak out and in no uncertain terms, and he WILL BE HEARD.

In the meantime Senator Andrews is making the acquaintance of some nice playmates whose friendship and confidence may prove very much worth while should the unpredictable political cat jump in an unexpected direction.

Anyway Florida is back in the

There are men who will tell you that they can "step off" a distance and get it right to a foot. Sometimes they can. And sometimes they can't. It was tried here one day last week; to locate the boundaries of a lot, a man stepped off the distance between two given points. Then the distance was measured with a steel tape-line, and there was 30 feet difference in these forms of measurement.

Moore Haven's Commercial Club plans a clean-up campaign in that place. At a meeting held recently, the club's executive committee was appointed to carry out the work. County and city governments are going to co-operate with the club. Weeds will be cleaned off vacant lots, alleys, walks and parkways. A drive is also under way to rid Thruway canal of undesirable floating trash.

The Lake Drug company in Clewiston was robbed early Thursday morning and a large quantity of drugs, cigarettes and electrical appliances taken. It was the same night robbers broke into B. Elliott's Ford place in Pahokee and drove away with a new V-8 car. The thieves, who came from the city, got the car before being picked up on Clewiston to pick out the loot they wanted. In order to have a little ready cash the thieves broke into two slot machines in the drug store and relieved them of the jack pots.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Poole of Clewiston have accepted positions in Washington at National Park. Mr. Poole will be in charge of the park's management and Mrs. Poole will be in charge of the park's education. This announcement will be of interest to the many friends in Canal Point where they lived for several months while Mr. Poole was employed with the U. S. Engineers and Mrs. Poole conducted a kindergarten.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jones of New Orleans, recently visited Moore Haven and fished from Jones fish camp. They had a lot of luck and reported catching a string of red black bass averaging five pounds each. The largest one tipped the beam to six and one-half pounds. Advantages on this side of the Lake take note.

B. D. McNeely of the State Board of Health was the speaker at the City Hall meeting in Okeechobee last week. The speaker of the suggestions on improving sanitary conditions in Okeechobee county. At the same meeting plans were made for erecting bleachers at the diamond ball field.

Large Cube of Ice Made By Frigidaire

The largest single ice cube made by a standard household electric refrigerator is now on exhibition at the Automobile Service in Pahokee, authorized dealer for Frigidaire. This ice cube is so large that it would easily fill the entire ice compartment of the average ice box. It weighs more than 75 pounds. Yet, despite the hot weather it does not melt. In fact, according to Cliff Rose, manager of the firm, it cannot melt, although it is real ice that is intensely cold to the touch, and would do a good job cooling any ice box in which it were placed. But to this in an ice box, it would have to melt.

"We made this large ice cube as a part of the demonstration here proving that with a Frigidaire, using a refrigerator, ice is actually made for less money than it could be purchased for on the market," said Mr. Rose.

"Naturally, Frigidaires are not cooled by the ice they make, nor do we suggest that making ice with a Frigidaire is the logical way to cool an ice box, but we are prepared to show that even that job can be done more economically with a Frigidaire. Frigidaire, so far as actual dollars and cents are concerned. This is because the meter-maker is so economical in its use of electricity current that it can make ice for less than prevailing prices.

Bing Crosby and Bob Burns at The Prince

"Can you do the ululu? Or the hula, pili, kaula or the oia?"

They're all native Hawaiian dances of the hula type and there are some two hundred choruses who couldn't do them a couple of months ago but who can do them as well as any Hawaiian today and they learned how in the "stringing dancing school in Hollywood."

"It's all due to 'Waikiki Wedding,' the comedy of love and music which came to the Prince Theatre in Pahokee on Saturday night Sunday, with Bing Crosby, Bob Burns, Martha Raye and Shirley Ross.

In pursuing his decision never to make two pictures in the same environment, Crosby chose Hawaii as the locale for his latest picture. The script called for several native dances and since Crosby is a native dancer, a whole staff of native dancers were imported from Hawaii to teach the chorus girls the dance of various islands and the gyrations of the hula. It was no easy job. To the uninitiated, Hawaiian dancing may seem to be no more than haphazard and hilly contortions and acrobatics. But, it was explained by Leloy Pritz, Paramount's leading director, who was in charge of staging of the dance in the picture, every one of the native dances has significance, in which, every little movement, as the old song used to put it, with a meaning all its own.

In fact, Pritz pointed out, the dance is a form of sign language to the Hawaiians, who understand the message of the dance as clearly from her movements as if she were talking to them.

Several of these dances date back to the dawn of Hawaiian history, Pritz said, and some of them are still performed now.

OPEN NEWS AGENCY
R. Lee Willes and E. L. Abel announce the opening of the P. Office News Agency in West Palm Beach at 202 Fern street. They will carry a large stock of newspapers, magazines, and other news items.

Everybody in the Lake Okeechobee region knows Johnny Thomas, general distributor for the Gulf Oil Corporation. Johnny has long been the place where he is quite a gofer, but of recent days he has been busy with another job. The story dates back to some few years ago when Johnny built a new and attractive home on the Pahokee Canal Point road. He sure got what he thought was an extra good roof on the house. But, the heavy rain of a few weeks ago proved to Johnny that there was a new hip roof and it will be covered with a good grade of shingles.

"Now, let it rain," Johnny says.

ABOUT PEOPLE

Fred H. Kent—newly named attorney for the Everglades Drainage District—has many friends in this end of the state who will be glad to know that he is to become a resident of Miami. Fred is a likable chap and well versed in the business of the local drainage district. He has been in the drainage district for some time and has made an enviable reputation for himself. His appointment to his new job is a reward for his past work.

The new job carries a salary of $6,000 yearly which, with the help of the legal department of the State Road Board, he drew only $3,000. Fred replaces Frank E. Bryant who has served for past few years. Attorney Bryant will remain with the district until the first of August.

The South Florida Conservancy District office, which has been a scheme of activity these days, has gone forward for renting land for the coming farming season. Fred H. Kent, who is in charge of the office, is being assisted by J. B. Penney for the next two or three months. H. Kent, who is a former assistant in the office, spent several days of the past week in the office as the guest of Mr. Wakefield.

They've got a new game in Lake Harbor for pasture and amusement. It's called "pitching dollars." C. M. Lee, Clifford Koch, Fred Lee and Raymond Willes were enjoying the newly developed pasture this week when the reporter happened by. The game is played by the Hawaiians, who use only eight silver dollars as substitutes of horseshoes. A silver dollar is held in the palm of the hand and a half inch in diameter is used instead of a stone. When you think that a little bit of a tangled up silver dollar in a two and a half inch hole twenty-five feet away. Ralph Stallions furnishes the cart and the large silver dollar is used. It was found that one of them was a Mexican dollar. Reason for this was that "there ain't no such thing as a free lunch." The silver dollar is used in the harbor. The game is played in front of Byrd's drug store where it has been a large attraction throughout the long and warm afternoons.

Frank E. Brewer, owner of the Glades Truck and Tractor company in Pahokee, is making arrangements for a big season's business. The home of the International place in Pahokee is being rebuilt and a large addition is being made which will be used for a display room, office and a part room. Frank came to Pahokee last season from Port Pierce and has won for himself, and his steady growing business a number of warm friends. He is thoroughly sold on the Lake Okeechobee region and is optimistic over the outlook for a successful season this time.

funds while Emerson is the director. The 1937 legislative appropriation $70,000 annually to finance the employment service, with a similar amount to be supplied by Washington when an agreement is signed. Such an agreement would include continuation of Emerson in office, or his replacement by someone selected on the "merit" system.

Heston, under whose department the employment service operates, said: "This places us in a position of having the United States Employment Service recognizing Mr. Emerson as director and Governor Cook recognizing Mr. Heston as director. Actually, at the present time we have no state employment service, the agreement expired July 1."

Florida Exhibit
Tells Truth of State

Cleveland July 21—American missionaries all over the globe, 75 Florida "missionaries" in one of the nation's largest industrial areas—both are bringing knowledge of a new world to thousands.

Replacing erroneous impressions of Florida with accurate information constitutes an unbelievable amount of Florida's personnel work at the Great Lakes Exposition. Telling Exposition guides hear and questions they answer often seem incredible.

Near the grapefruit and display of fruit and juice is a pile of coconuts in their husks. One man suddenly grasped his wife's arm for attention as his glance fell upon the coconuts.

"Look," he exclaimed, "so that's how those grapefruit grow! They're inside the shell, aren't they?"

One lady listened attentively to "Why if those fruits grew in the United States hardly anyone would believe it," she remarked. "But nothing can happen in our tropical possessions like Hawaii and Florida."

An enthusiastic visitor insisted that the Florida exhibit looked just like pictures he'd seen taken in Florida "way down there around Los Angeles."

All proving of course that life can't be dull for an exhibit guide nor his "missionary" efforts wasted.

the intricate and highly technical phases of litigation incident to attempt at refunding the district

One vegetable season ends—a few weeks pass and another season is at hand. It is an endless effort to bring forth from the fertile muck crops on which to cash in.

A few short summer months and then tractors start humming—and seed will be going into the ground. Then comes the harvest and the hope that prices will be profitable.

That's where we come into the picture. Brokers and growers use a lot of printed matter during the run of a season. We're always ready to furnish it on short notice. But, it would be great if you'd place your order in advance this time.

Of course, we're full of new ideas about printing and will be pleased to pass them along to you.
